

WIDOW DISCARDS MILITARY HONOR CAPTURE BANDIT IN CHICAGO HOTEL HOLD-UP

FIFTH GANG MEMBER SOUGHT; TWO OTHERS AND CASHIER KILLED

Summary Justice Is Under Way After Daring
Robbery

CHICAGO, July 30.—James Woods, 24, fourth of the bandit gang of five who boldly raided the Drake Hotel late yesterday and shot down Frank B. Rodke, assistant cashier, in cold blood, was captured at Jefferson Park Hospital early today and confessed his part in the most spectacular crime in years.

For his part in the robbery, which cost the lives of two of his companions by bullets from police revolvers, and the capture of a third, Woods received a bullet wound himself, and $20.

The fifth member of the band got away with $3,500.

For Woods and Joseph W. Holmes, alias Jack Hill, the other captured member of the band, summary justice was under way while the hunt for the escaped bandit was going on.

States Attorney Crowe and his staff prepared to go before the grand jury this morning to submit evidence calling for indictments, not only for the robbery, but for murder indictments of Holmes as the actual slayer of Rodke and of Woods as an accessory to the murder. And similar indictments were to be sought against the escaped gunman, known both as Jim Nugent and William J. Melenchuk.

Police bullets ended careers of the other two, one a swaggering, drunken Texas cowboy, on the lawn almost in front of the hotel where they had shot down Rodke and terrorized a half hundred employees and scores of guests, the other in an apartment basement, where he was cornered by two policemen after a spectacular, seven mile running battle in automobiles through crowded Lake Shore drive, Lincoln Park and north side streets.

Capture of the fifth bandit was the sole remaining aim of police today. They had slain two bandits, wounded and captured two others.

One woman had been injured, cut and bruised as she lay in the bottom of a careening taxicab which carried one of the bandits, his revolver alternately pressing against the back of the chauffeur to make him speed, and flashing fire at pursuing officers, until the cab crashed into a street car seven miles from the scene of the holdup. It was this chase which ended in the slaying of the second bandit, Erik Nelson, ringleader of the gang.

Except for the coldblooded slaying of Rodke, the wild west foray of the bandits had ended with the score four to nothing in favor of the police-men.

FIREBUGS SET FIRE TO EXCLUSIVE CLUB

HARRISON, N. Y., July 30.—Firebugs today set ablaze four buildings on the property of the West Chester Biltmore Country Club, one of the most exclusive in the country.

Two residences, the club and Agate house, were burned. Oil had been poured on the buildings.

Police are holding two men whose names they would not divulge.

Schwab was accompanied by A. J. Townsend, Q. R. Jensen and H. M. Schwab, all of Cleveland.

State School Head
Declares

Pomeroy, O., July 30.—When the Pomeroy board of education two weeks ago fired thirty-two grade and high school teachers because they would not sign contracts to teach nine months for eight months pay, it acted without the approval of the state department of education, according to Superintendent Vernon Reigel today.

As a result the board is expected to call a meeting this week and rescind its action.

The local situation became so acute that Reigel came here to investigate

OHIO ARRESTS WILL BE FORERUNNERS OF MANY NEW DRY COUPS

Enforcement Agents Working On Cases In Other States

WASHINGTON, July 30.—The arrest of Judge John E. Tanney and a number of others in Ohio and the charges against them of violating the prohibition laws, is but the forerunner of a number of other startling coups by the federal enforcement agents in other large cities throughout the country, it was stated today at prohibition headquarters.

Agents are now working on a number of what were described as "big conspiracy cases" involving not only private citizens but public officials as well.

The nature of the conspiracies and the cities in which they are now being investigated were withheld by officials here. Recently, the department of justice obtained from district attorneys and other secret reports of the prohibition situation in their respective territories and it is understood to be on information thus secured that the prohibition authorities are now proceeding. These secret reports revealed, it is said, sensational evidence of graft and corruption in the operation of the dry laws, some of which were laid at the very door of those officials whose duty it is to enforce the law.

PAY LESS TAXES

Logan, July 30.—Logan County taxpayers paid $200,000 less in county taxes in July than they did one year ago, according to estimates compiled by county officials here today. Slow work in the coal mines and clay plants is blamed for the shortage. Delinquencies are expected to total about $200,000, it was said.

and at a meeting of members of the various boards of education of the county, he made the state's attitude very plain when he said:
"It is never good policy to discharge good teachers without reason and because a teacher refuses to teach nine months for eight months pay is not a good reason."
Reigel said he personally will have charge of state aid distributions this year and that he intends to go before the legislature and attempt to get an appropriation of $4,000,000 for the "poor" counties. Reigel added there were twenty-three really "poor" counties and that they should have all the benefits enjoyed by the "rich" counties. He declared that $4,000,000 placed in the state aid fund would place all Ohio schools upon an equality.

STATES INSURANCE DEPARTMENT HAS NO RATE FIXING POWER

Letter Sent Donahey By Conn Disclaims Rate Responsibility

COLUMBUS, O., July 30.—Denial that "the state insurance department, together with the laws governing it," are responsible for recent alleged unwaranted fifty percent advances in farm insurance rates in Ohio, as suggested by Congressman Chas. Brand of Urbana, in a recent letter to Governor Donahey, was made here today by Harry L. Conn, state superintendent of insurance. Conn, in a letter to the governor, declared the department had no rate making power, except to prevent discrimination.

"If anyone knows or believes there is a discrimination against him because he is charged a higher rate than is charged someone else on a similar risk, he may complain to this office and upon hearing a discrimination is found, same will be ordered removed," Conn said.

Conn also submitted to Governor Donahey a letter from T. B. Sellers, manager of the Ohio inspection bureau, which is maintained by insurance companies in which Sellers declared that the higher rates on farm buildings were justified "because of the heavy losses that have been incurred by the company's writing this business."

Sellers pointed out that dwelling rates, comprising about half the business are now lower than formerly. He also said that rate increases put into effect were justified because experience tables showed that companies writing this form of insurance had paid out $120 in losses for every dollar collected. He pointed out that modern methods, while bringing efficiency to the farm, had increased fire hazards, listing autos, gasoline engines and tractors as contributing to the increase in fire hazards.

The same experience in losses was assigned as the reason for the increase in tornado rates.

Sellers also pointed out that fire insurance rates on farm property in neighboring states are fully 50 percent higher than the newly published Ohio rates.

Experience with farm property in Ohio has been so unprofitable, Sellers said, that of the 300 companies subscribing to the bureau, only six write farm insurance and only six insure farm property in general over the state.

"We question whether the rates named in the farm schedule will produce a profit on this class or attract companies that have heretofore had farm property on their prohibited list," Sellers said in conclusion.

SHENANDOAH ON WAY TO VIRGINIA COAST

Lakehurst, N. J., July 30.—The naval dirigible Shenandoah left its mooring mast on the air station field here early today for the Virginia coast, where it will participate, under sealed orders, with additional maneuvers with the U. S. S. Texas.

A crew of 38 men, under command of Zachary Lansdowne, and two civil representatives of the navy department at Washington were aboard.

The Shenandoah is expected to return to its hangar tonight.

BIG KLAN PROGRAM IS NOW DWINDLING

WASHINGTON, July 30.—The national capital's great Klan show, on August 8, in which it had been planned to have 50,000 hooded knights march down Pennsylvania avenue, dwindled today to the dimensions of a lodge parade.
Instead of 50,000 klansmen in the line of march from all parts of the country there will be only a few thousand from the capital and nearby chapters in Virginia and Maryland. They will march unmasked.
Factional quarrels in the organization are said to have led to the abandonment of the plan to stage the show on a national scale.

GIVES MILLION FOR BIG CHARITY FUND

BUFFALO, N. Y., July 30.—William J. Connors, owner of the Buffalo Courier and millionaire head of the Great Lakes Transit Corporation, today announced establishment of a charity foundation with a gift of $1,000,000 as a starting point.

The charity will be controlled by a board of six trustees, consisting of two Catholics, two Protestants and two Jews. The Catholics will be represented by William J. Connors, Jr., and former Justice Daniel J. Kenerick, the Protestants by Dr. Henry C. Buswell and Howard Bissell and the Jews by Eugene L. Falk and Emanuel Bossberg.

The charity will be known as the Connors Foundation and Mr. Connors hopes to bring his contribution up to $5,000,000 within the next year or two, he said.

GIVES HEAVY FINES Mansfield, July 30.—Rum runners and others engaged in the liquor traffic are warned that they had better ply their trade outside of Mansfield.

Justice Harry H. Palm, of Washington Township, a few miles south of here, handles numerous liquor law cases and the lowest fine he levies in such cases is $1,000. Under new amendments to the Crabbe act, paroles for non-payment of fines must be approved by the justice, and it seems to be the prevailing opinion here that Justice Palm will never approve paroles of liquor law violators.

TRIAL COURT OVERRULED IN STRAWN COMPANY CASE

REMANDS ACTION TO COLLECT FOR STOCK BACK FOR NEW TRIAL

Appellate Court Finds Error
In Barring Of Evidence

Holding that the trial court erred in ruling out certain testimony of the defense, alleging fraudulent representation, the Court of Appeals, in an opinion received here Thursday, reversed the judgment in the case of George I. Graham against Harry D. Smith, receiver of The Strawn Press Company, and remanded the cause for a new trial.

The Graham case was the first to be tried, of three brought by Harry D. Smith as receiver of the Strawn Press Company, to enforce the collection of thirty-three and one-third percent of unpaid subscriptions for capital stock in the concern. The amount which he sought to collect in the Graham case was $500.

The fourth defense set up by counsel for Graham, and on which the case went to trial, set forth the insolvency of the company and that the real purpose of the action was to equalize stock holders, some of whom had paid in full. At the close of all the evidence, the trial court directed the jury to return a verdict in favor of the plaintiff for the amount claimed. Motion for a new trial was overruled and a judgment rendered on the verdict. Error was prosecuted to the Court of Appeals by counsel for Mr. Graham.

Counsel for the plaintiff in error urged before the Court of Appeals, that the trial court erred in refusing to submit the case to the jury.

"Passing by the formal or technical question argued by counsel, we think the real question is whether the trial court erred in the ruling as to the admission of evidence, and in directing a verdict for the plaintiff," the Appellate Court's opinion reads. "We find it necessary to consider only the defense of fraudulent representations. The defense of misrepresentations of existing facts, we think, is available against the corporation where the rights of creditors are not affected. The first question in this case therefore is whether the corporation had sufficient assets to liquidate the claims of creditors and the cost of the receivership without resorting to the subscription to the plaintiff for capital stock. The burden was upon the defendant to establish that fact by clear and convincing evidence.

"Mr. Harry D. Smith, the receiver, testified upon the question of solvency of the company. There are certain assets in his hands which he says are of doubtful value, and the cost of the receivership, according to his testimony, ranges from $1500 to $2000. We think that the court is not authorized to say, as a matter of law from undisputed evidence, that the corporation is insolvent, but that this question should have been submitted to the jury.

"In view of this situation as to the insolvency of the company, the defendant was entitled to submit competent evidence in support of his claim as the fraudulent representations of the company and its agents and the rulings of the trial court excluding such evidence was prejudicial error.

"It will be noted in the petition the purpose of collecting this assessment, was not only to pay creditors but to equalize stockholders and this theory is also set forth in one paragraph of the reply. The stockholders who have paid their assessments are presumably those against whom the corporation held enforceable contracts of subscription. Consequently the case of the plaintiff in error does not stand upon an equality with the cases of stockholders who have already paid. The court would not have the right to enforce the subscription against the plaintiff in error if the defense of fraud has been made out, and if it appears that the corporation is not insolvent.

"Technically speaking, there may have been no error in sustaining the plaintiff's motion for a directed verdict as the court had ruled out all of the evidence offered by the defendant below pending to prove misrepresentations. Consequently the reversible error goes back of the instructed verdict, and is founded upon the ruling out of the testimony tending to establish the defendant's claim of fraud." Judge Allread rendered the opinion which was concurred in by Judges Ferneding and Kunkle.

Sidney G. Kusworm, of Dayton is attorney for the plaintiff in error and Miller and Finney, and Marcus Shoup for the defendant in error, the receiver.

An identical case against L. E. John this city, is pending the outcome of the Graham case.

"WE GOT WRONG MAN" ASSAILANTS STATE AFTER KILLING MAN

Hammer Thugs Beat Man
To Death In His Apartment

New York, July 30.—Armed with hammers, two men stealthily climbed a fire escape, entered the apartment of Louis Leonardi, 32, a laborer and beat him to death early today while his wife looked helplessly on.

After they had killed him, one of the thugs ejaculated in broken English:

"We got the wrong man—this is the wrong apartment!"

One of the men seized Mrs. Leonardi, who was sleeping with her child. The other man rushed into the next room and bashed Leonardi's head with the hammer.

While the thug was beating her husband to death, Mrs. Leonardi pleaded with the other man not to kill her. He was on the point of slugging her with the hammer, when her child screamed.

Then the murderer rushed out to impart the information that he had killed the wrong man.

The men then darted through a window and back down the fire escape.

Police were summoned. Leonardi was dead, his skull fractured when police arrived.

Beside him lay the "death hammer."

Leonardi had not an enemy in the world, his wife tearfully declared.

PENNSY LOSES TO ROPEMAKERS; TO PROTEST RULING

Overcoming a one run lead by a rally in the final session, the league-leading Hooven and Allison nine took a firmer grip on first place, by defeating the Pennsylvania Railroad nine 4 to 3 in a six-inning Industrial League game at Washington Park Wednesday night.

The losing team announced it will protest the game because of an umpire's decision in the last of the sixth frame.

With one out in the sixth, Cain doubled. In attempting to reach third, Cain is alleged to have run around Hendricks at third and was called out for running from the base line. The losers will protest the game on the grounds there was no base line. A decision will be asked of the sport department of a Cincinnati paper.

Trailing by one run in the sixth, the H. and A. nine bunched three hits for two runs.

The promised pitchers' battle between "Dick" Wells and Glass did not develop because of the failure of Wells to appear.

Cox pitched in his place and although allowing the Pennsy nine seven hits, was complete master in the pinches. The losers outthit the league leaders seven to six.

Extra base hits featured the game. Of the thirteen hits made, seven were for extra bases. Doubles were collected by A. Milburn, Cain, Glass, Pancake and Hendricks, who made a pair of two base blows. J. Fuller made a triple.

Glass slightly out-pitched Cox, fanning nine, but was a victim of bunched hits. Cox struck out six. Catcher Murrell was a strike-out victim three times.

NATIONS RATIFYING TRADE TREATIES TO PROMOTE RELATIONS

WASHINGTON, July 30—The wide scope of the trade war being fought throughout the world is reflected in the announcement of the Department of Commerce recently that more than fifty inter-nation commercial treaties are pending and that many have been signed recently embracing "most favored" clauses binding the countries to closer trade relationships.

The United States is also active in this phase of commercial extension, although in some official quarters it is felt that increased pushing of the trade agreements would be helpful in combating the tremendous drive of foreign competitors in the effort to capture the world commerce.

PACT EFFECTIVE TODAY

Today a commercial treaty between Belgium and Japan, providing for reciprocal "most favored nation" treatment of commerce and navigation and for consular rights, becomes effective. It remains effective for a term of five years and thereafter until six months after denunciation by either party.

However, if Belgium at any time applies a differential tariff to products of a country now enjoying "most favored" treatment, negotiations are to be entered into with Japan for the purpose of protecting the latter's rights and interests under this treaty, and if negotiations are not satisfactorily concluded within three months Japan will then be entitled to denounce the "most favored nation" clause in respect to import duties, charges and restrictions, such denunciation to be effective in three months.

Other inter-nation treaties mentioned in recent Commerce Department reports follow:

"Most favored nation," treaty between Poland and Sweden, already ratified by the latter country.

Spanish-Swedish commercial treaty went into effect July 1.

A commercial treaty between the United States and Hungary. This treaty is substantially the same as the United States-Germany treaty, embracing the "most favored nation" type. The treaty will be effective on exchange of ratification.

NEW TREATIES PENDING

Several newly signed commercial treaties will be presented to Congress in December, most of them on the basis of the German treaty. All will be ratified, in the opinion of officials.

Included in other commercial intelligence was the announcement that the importation into Canada of all fresh peaches and peach nursery stock and the importation of peach fruit pits or seeds into British Columbia, for propagating purposes, is prohibited from the States of Wisconsin, Illinois, Missouri, Arkansas, Mississippi and the areas east of these States.

Shipments from all other States must be accompanied by a statement signed by the Consignor, indicating the State in which the peaches were grown.

STATE WILL BID ON BRICK CONTRACTS

Columbus, O., July 30—The state will go into active competition with commercial paving brick manufacturing plants when bids are opened here Friday by the state highway department on road construction jobs involving brick and worth approximately $12,000,000.

The state has on hand more than 1,000,000 convict made brick at the Johnson City brick plant.

PAY OLD BONDS

Elyria, July 30—Nearly four-fifths of every dollar of taxes paid into the Elyria city treasury goes to pay interest and sinking fund requirements on bonds issued by the city, City Auditor Schlemmer revealed today. Of every dollar of taxes collected, he said, 29 1-6 cents goes to operating expenses of the city, the remainder being required for bond issue needs.

CLUB HOLDS LAST MEETING

The last meeting of the Spring Valley Sewing Club was held Tuesday evening at the new high school building. The meeting was open to the public and was attended by about one hundred guests.

Miss Viola Curry, president of the club, presided at the meeting and a roll call was responded to by the twenty three members present with maxims. Pans were then discussed in view of a wicker roast to be held August 12 at the home of Miss Ruth Ann King. The parade to be held at the Greene County Fair was also discussed.

After the general business meeting the program was turned over to the leader of the club, Mrs. J. G. Giddis, who led the group in farewell songs to the officer. Garments made by members were inspected by Mrs. Giddis who explained the methods of entering an exhibit. Three demonstrations are presented by the club and one garment will be placed on exhibit.

The program committee had arranged a pleasing program in which musical selections and dramatics featured The orchestra and a duet by two members of the club furnished several musical selections and two short plays "Hiring the School Ma'am" and "Dr. Euresmes Busy Day" delighted the audience with their sparkling wit and humor. Short talks on club work and another orchestral selection closed the program.

The meeting closed with its regular impressive ceremony, the ritual of the campfire and the Omaha Tribal Prayer.

A social hour was enjoyed during which a short musical program was given, consisting of a piano solo by Miss Wilda Bickett; a vocal duet by the Misses Marie and Frances Williamson; piano solo by Miss Mary Anna Wolford. The following directions are for knitting a size 36 sweater with the new "butterfly" sleeves:
Buy eight balls of lustrafloss yarn,
a pair of number five and one-half knitting needles, and a size four crochet hook. Begin by casting on 70 stitches. * Knit plain ten rows (five ridges) and on the next row insert needle in stitch, wrap twice, knit the stitch repeat between these stars to end of row. Next row purl, dropping wrapped stitches * repeat between these marks (*) once; then repeat for entire sweater, increasing in the next five plain knit stripes one stitch each side on the first, fifth and ninth rows and two stitches each side on the third seventh rows till there are 140 stitches.

Now work without increase for eight and one-half inches (about nine stitches make one inch). There should be 12 rows of dropped stitches from bottom.
On next plain knit row, * work to within four stitches of end of needle;
turn and work to within four stitches of opposite end, * repeat between these marks (*) till you have eight groups of four stitches not worked, on each needle.
On next row knit 20 stitches, bind plain knit row of stripes.) On remaining 20 stitches work two inches, working across four more stitches from short rows every second row. Make other shoulder in this same way.

Cast on 36 stitches for front of neck and continue working four more stitches each side till there are 140 stitches on row. Finish front same as back.
Pick up 70 stitches around armhole, knit nine rows plain, bind off on wrong side and work single crochet around neck.

This is a slipover sweater which is comfortably loose and graceful about the hips; its sleeves are elbow length and formed like a "kimono sleeve" on dresses except that they are looser under the arm.

The careful woman never hangs a sweater on a hook or nail, when it is not in use, as that stretches the garment out of shape. Either keep it in a drawer or else hang it through an embroidery hoop which you have wound with a pretty ribbon and hang the hoop to a nail.

WHY AREN'T WE ALL HAPPY?

When I went to work this morning
I felt very unhappy. I hardly knew why. And so I started to take an invoice of myself.

I thought of all the things that I had to make me unhappy—then I thought of all the things I had to make me happy. And what a sur-prized individual I was when I named over in my thoughts all that I had to make me unhappy. I soon forgot the unhappy mood and literally chased it into the woods—or somewhere.

I convinced myself that I was one of the most favored of individuals and that I had been blessed far beyond my deserts. And then I wondered if that were not the case with most people.

I have in mind this minute a friend who really has very little to make him happy and yet I can think of no time when he has ever expressed unhappiness to me. He is always a welcomed guest, both to my person and in my heart as I bring him to mind.

There is another friend of mine who seems to have everything to make him happy and yet I hear nothing but complaints when I am with him. He has a fine reputation, is unusually talented and makes big money. Yet he always seems worried and unhappy.

Which brings up the question:
Why aren't we all happy?

I do not know. Nor does anyone.
Yet the search of all life is for happiness. Much more than for money or fame. For those with the most money, or who are the best known as to reputation, are far from being on a selected list of the happiness finders.

Which brings to mind the story of the King who sent his aids to scour the country for a contented man, and when they had found him to secure the shirt from his back and return with it for the King.

Well, they found such a man singing at the roadside in the country.
But, lo and behold, the poor fellow had no shirt!

You are dizzy and pray for quick relief—what's to be done?

Just one tablespoonful of Dare's Mentha-Pepsin and in ten minutes the gas disappears, the pressing on the heart ceases and you can breathe deep and naturally.

Oh, What blessed relief; but why not get rid of such attacks altogether? Why have chronic indigestion at all?

With this wonderful medicine you can banish indigestion or dyspepsia, catarrh of stomach or any abnormal condition that keeps the stomach in constant rebellion and the bottle will prove it.

And how happy you will be when your stomach is as good as new for then dizziness, nervousness, sleeplessness, headache, dull eyes and other ailments caused by a disordered stomach will disappear and you will be your old happy, contented self again. Sohn's Drug Store and every regular pharmacist guarantees one bottle of Dare's Mentha-Pepsin to show the way to stomach comfort.

Parent Teachers' Association of the village.

Arranged primarily as a school reunion, the affair took on the nature of a community gathering, in which the entire population of the village and surrounding country took part.

The celebration took place on the lawn of the Methodist Church where an elaborate picnic dinner was served at noon. The dinner was followed by a program of speeches and music, and the day's celebration ended with a concert by the New Burlington band at night.

An interesting feature of the program was the reading of a history of New Burlington and Chester Township, Clinton County, which was written in 1882 by A. H. Harlan, an old resident of the village. It was read by his son, William Harlan, superintendent of schools at Mederia, O., and a former teacher in the New Burlington schools.

Talks were made by the Rev. Homer Carless, pastor of the New Burlington Methodist Church, Miss Elizabeth Reeves, teacher of domestic science at Tacoma, Wash., who is visiting relatives in New Burlington; Miss Clara Lile of Waynesville, Mrs. Nora Sollers of Spring Valley, and a number of local teachers.

Following the program a horse shoe pitching contest and a number of events for children, winners in which were given prizes, took place. The Methodist Sunday School orchestra played throughout the afternoon.

NEW POLICEMAN TO BE APPOINTED SOON

Appointment of a regular patrolman on the Xenia police Department from an eligible list of three, certified by the civil service commission to fill the vacancy caused by the death of Patrolman Charles Simms, was to have been made late Thursday by City Manager S. O. Hale.

The selection lies between George H. Robinson, 37, Alphonso Saunders, 28, and William Anderson, 30, all colored and employees of the Pennsylvania Railroad, all of whom successfully passed the civil service examination held Tuesday night. Ten applicants took the examination.

Following the custom of the department, a colored man will be appointed to fill the vacancy. Patrolman Simms was the only colored member of the department.

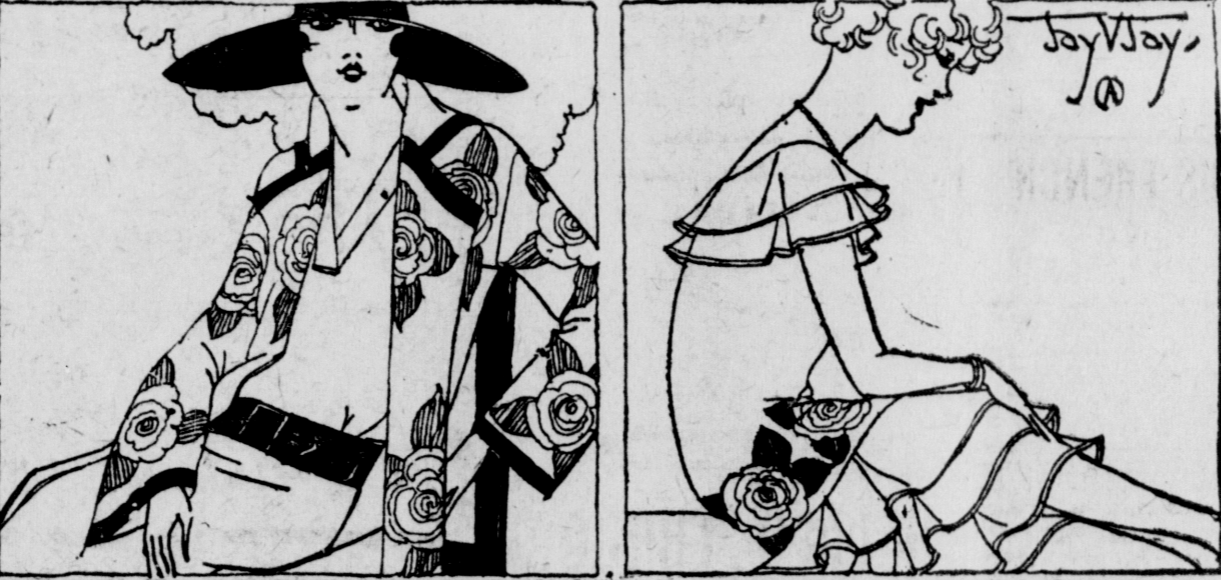

MODISH MITZI—The Last Rose Of Summer

By JAY V. JAY

A great deal may have been sung about the last rose of summer but not enough has been said of its fashionable importance this year. Mitzi's transparent hat with its trimming of a single rose that peeps under the brim demonstrates the style of a single rose left blooming alone.

Polly has many roses—all over her black satin bathing suit and they are of that lovely mulberry shade that is connected with the last rose of summer. These scorn the every day variety of dew and cry for a salt water bath. They are quite the smartest roses on the beach.

And the nicest roses we have seen anywhere are on Mitzi's summer coat of natural color crash. It is the sort of coat that can be worn at the country club or on the beach. It has pipings of plain color and nice deep pockets.

Polly, looking very much like a rose herself, wears a frock that is petal-like with its dainty tiered skirt and collar. Several very large roses are painted on her bodice in colors. It's sort of jolly to have roses that will last so far into the fall!

GARDEN CLUB WILL FEATURE FLOWERS

A display of flowers from home gardens will be a feature of the Greene County Fair that is being sponsored by the Xenia Garden Club.

Mrs. Charles Keble, president of the club, urges all flower growers to send baskets or bouquets of flowers to be used in the exhibit. Each basket or bouquet will bear a card with the name of the sender. The flowers will be simply a Garden Club feature and no premiums will be attached but the club members are anxious to have a handsome display.

Any one in the county may enter flowers whether a member of the Garden Club or not. All who can do so are asked to send their flowers to the Fair Grounds Wednesday morning. Any one having flowers which he will be unable to take to the grounds can have them taken out by calling Mrs. Charles Keble and leaving name and address.

All the flower growers of the county are urged to send bouquets and make this new feature of the Fair exhibit one of much interest. There will be no fee attached to the entries and everyone is welcome to exhibit their home grown flowers.

COMMISSION WILL ORGANIZE MONDAY

The Greene County Budget Commission will re-organize for 1925 at a meeting scheduled to be held in the offices of County Auditor R. O. Wead, in the Court House Monday.

The commission consists of County Auditor Wead, county Treasurer F. A. Jackson and Prosecuting Attorney J. Carl Marshall.

A chairman will be chosen at the meeting. Auditor Wead automatically becomes secretary by law.

Remarkable Memorial

BUILT BY

The George Dodds & Sons Granite Co.

The Eastman Memorial is another striking example of Dodds' service in designing, quarrying, manufacturing and building the best in Art.

It required two flat cars to ship the giant pieces of finished granite from the quarries in Connecticut to Clinton, Iowa, where the Memorial was recently erected.

The material used was the beautiful veined Stony Creek Granite, surfaces and moldings being highly polished, and the effect thus is incomparable in distinctive beauty with any granite produced.

Dodds' service supplies every need, from the modest and inexpensive Marker to the largest Monument or Mausoleum. The finest exhibit of completed Memorial Work in Ohio can be seen at the display rooms on Main Street.

Be sure to visit this exhibit and you will find it easy to make a selection and at a very reasonable price.

Air Brushed Colors Latest Wrinkle for Hose

The above pictures illustrate the very latest wrinkle in decorating milady's hose. The stockings are white silk with air brush coloring applied by artists. The designs are often fantastic and the colors used exotic. Those illustrated are done in stripes and plaids in comparatively plain patterns.

Jackie Vandiver of Daysville, Ky., pined for her sweetheart, a gob with the Atlantic fleet. She cut her hair, dressed herself as a man, went to Cincinnati, sought enlistment. All went well until the "recruit" was asked to strip for a physical examination. Tears, amazed recruiting officers, explanations, a reluctant journey back to Daysville.

MORE TRUTH THAN POETRY

Now the politician's telling all his reasons and his whys, and all the time he's yelling there are teardrops in his eyes. Oh, he says if he's elected, every wrong will be corrected and all those with him connected will help to share his pies.

Though we're garbed in clothes of toil and our hands are calloused rough, though we play and hoe the soil, still they hand us out their stuff; when they meet us, they adore us and they start to making o'er us as they hand us out phosphorus for the cigars that we puff.

Oh, this planet is a beauty when the politicians throng, for they do their rightful duty as the should their whole lives long; and the world is made serene by the clever office gleaner, and it sets us feeling keener when we hear their line of song.

But when all the votes are counted and campaigners quit their beat, then a great change will be noted in the stores and one the street; for the boys who hugged our shoulders, who dispatched us cards and folders, though we lived among the boulders, will not greet us when we meet. And the hand that shook our mitten won't be handed after that, we'll be like some homeless kitten shunned by some old family cat; and the wrongs that need be righted more than likely will be slighted, for our friends get oversighted when in office at the bat.

So when politicians glitter with a smile that makes us glad, let's demand that when they twit their of the training that they've had, let's remember public duty calls for more than some patuta with a backbone like a cootie who thinks politics a fad.

Come, let's vote for men to serve us who are qualified and right, everybody cast his ballot so that on election night we'll have men with colors showing, who are sure the way their going, who are up, alert and growing, and who'll work with all their might.

SUGGESTIONS FOR SOLVING CROSS-WORD PUZZLES

Start out by filling in the words of which you feel reasonably sure. These will give you a clue to other words crossing them, and they in turn to still others. A letter belongs in each white space, words starting at the numbered squares and running either horizontally or vertically or both.

HOBBIES OF THE GREAT AND NEAR GREAT AS TOLD BY NEWS WRITER

SENATOR DAVID A. REED

Delving into the literature of the Middle Ages, Senator David A. Reed (R. of Penn.) has developed a remarkable hobby of collecting rare specimens of early printing.

The Senator has gathered from every corner of the globe scores of original copies of monastic manuscripts and of liturgical books. His collection is said to be one of the best of its kind in the world and to show in intricate detail the development of printing from the laborious inscriptions of medieval monks to the lightning-like product of the modern printing press.

His hobby has led the Senator to collect rare books, first editions of famous medieval authors and the works of unknown monks, who labored for months with quills and the juices of berries to copy titanes and prayers. Some of his monastic manuscripts were used for study in European abbeys for centuries before they came into Reed's possession.

"I am interested in the origin of printing, because, as a kind, I was a printer myself," says Reed. "I even published a small newspaper, and printing was my first love in the field of industry."

The Senator is extremely energetic, and for recreation he is fond of tennis, but he has little use for golf, which he looks upon as a less active and more deliberate sport.

He also goes in for horseback riding. The Senator also likes hunting, and once a year he can be found on a duck-hunting expedition to the marshes and woods of North Carolina.

Reed is a skilled marksman. He served throughout the World War as a major in the Three Hundred and Eleventh Field Artillery, which saw heavy service for two years in France. Prior to the war he was actively interested in the Pennsylvania National Guard, and in 1916 he made the highest score in the national rifle-range matches.

The Senator, shooting on the National Guard range at Pittsburgh, smashed out 245 bull's-eyes out of a possible 250.

FORCEFUL SPEAKER.

In debate, the Senator is a marksman, too. He seldom speaks, but when he does he hits right to the subject. It is said among his colleagues that if every Senator debated as Reed does, there would be no need for Vice-President Dawes' campaign to amend the Senate's rules. Reed never prepares an address neither, nor does he refer to notes except to obtain correct statistics. He probably is one of the Senate's best extemporaneous speakers.

For entertainment the Senator is a devotee of the opera and appreciates music in all forms. He is an expert mandolin player and is in the highest state of bliss when playing to Mrs. Reed's piano accompaniment.

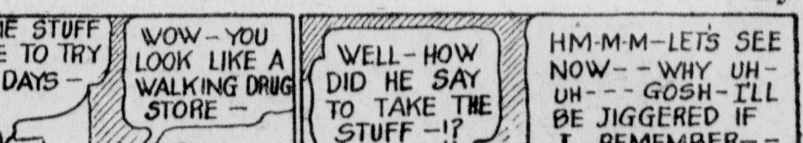

Reed's war experiences have resulted in a habit which demonstrates his kindly heart and his warm friendship for those who fought beside him in France. Every Christmas he sends a basket of fruit and cigarettes to all the Pennsylvania boys in the Walter Reed Hospital, in Washington. The crippled veterans know they have a friend in Dave Reed, of Pennsylvania.

Next—Senator James E. Watson.
